

A short biography of Annelies Maenhout

Annelies Maenhout is a lecturer, researcher and clinician in physiotherapy specialized in shoulder rehabilitation. She obtained a PhD in 2008 with a focus on rotator cuff tendinopathy . She currently holds a position as a visiting professor at Ghent University (Belgium) within Rehabilitation Sciences department. She (co-)authored papers in international peer-reviewed journals and chapters in books. Annelies shares her clinical and scientific experience with students in the Physiotherapy program at Ghent University as well as with fellow professionals through workshops and clinical courses. She works in a specialized team of sports physiotherapists in practice (www.teamhit.be) where she is responsible for shoulder rehabilitation.

